DECIDED AGAINST SHEA

SUPREME COURT OF ERRORS SUS-TAINS WATERBURY COURT.

bea Was Not Satisfied With the Damages Awarded Him and Appealed-Cases Assigned for Trial in Superior Court-Other

The judges of the supreme court of errors yesterday handed down a decislon in the case of Michael Shea against the Consolidated Railroad company The judges find that there was no error in the decision of the lower court. In 1893 the plaintiff brought suit to recover $5,000 damages for the death of his son Phomas, who was killed on Washington avenue in Waterbury by a train on the Naugatuck division of the Consolidated oad. The accident occurred August 2,

The suit was originally brought in the Waterbury district court, where Shea alleged that the accident was due to the resence of a high board fence which shut off the view of approaching trains and that the engineer and fireman of the train were criminally negligent in not seeing the team crossing the track ix hundred feet beyond the engine, thus giving them plenty of time to stop the

When the case was tried the plaintiff was awarded $1 damages and $98.50 costs. An appeal was taken by the plaintiff, who was not satisfied with the small amount of damages awarded him. The arguments in the case were made by Attorneys Webster and O'Nell for hea and Kellogg & Kellogg for the Consolidated railroad. The supreme court by its decision finds that there is no error in the decision of the lower court, and therefore decides against

In the supreme court yesterday the appeal of the defendant in the suit of Marshall D. Stevens against Michael Kelly was argued and decision reserv The story of the case was printed in full in the "Courier" yesterday. Immediately after the arguments had been made in this case the supreme court adjourned for the term.

In the superior court yesterday Judge Prentice granted a divorce to Susanna Turcott from her husband, Octave Turott, the wealthy oyster grower of Howard avenue. The divorce was granted on the ground of intolerable cruelty With the decree alimony to the amount of $2,900 is awarded. The couple were married February 11, 1876. The divorce sults of Amy B. Maguire against Sam-uel B. Maguire, both of Meriden, on the ground of intolerable cruelty, and of Frank H. Gauchet of this city against is wife, Eleanor C. Gauchet, allegin habitual intemperance, were continued or further evidence. In the superior court the following ases have been assigned for trial. Wednesday, June 12-Leete vs. the outhern New England Telephone comany, on trial.

Thursday, June 13-Ezekiel G. Stoddard, trustee, vs. Prince & Whitely et als.; Deloy vs. Deloy; Monson vs. Miner; Beecher et al. vs. New Haven et als. same vs. New Haven; Sargent & Co. vs. Tuttle, collector; Whiting's appeal from robate. Property belonging to John Halley, a saloon keeper, and located on Wallace street, was attached yesterday by Constable Bree in a suit brought by Wil liam H. Hull, the brewer, to recover an alleged debt of $200. The papers were drawn by Attorney Jason P. Thomson and are returnable to the present term

f the city court. In the common pleas court yesterday fternoon the jury which has been try ing the case of Thomas W. Corbett against Agnes Cochrane rendered a verdict for the defendant to recover $50 damages and costs. Corbett brought e suit to recover for rent alleged to due and Mrs. Cochrane put in a counter-claim for damages caused by smoke. When the jury handed in its verdict Judge Hotchkiss refused to accept the verdict and sent the jury back for further deliberation. Late yester-day afternoon the jury returned and announced their inability to agree upo any other verdict, and were discharged from further consideration of the case.

PHILADELPHIA CONVENTIONS. Master Plumbers and Steam Heaters-Nev

Havenera. The New Haven delegation who will leave Monday for Philadelphia to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Master Plumbers' are S. E. Diblie, A. J. Clerkin, W. H. Hayes and William Keane. Mr. Dibble goes at state delegate, representing the state association; the other members represent the New Haven association. The Plumbers' National association meets on next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday; and then on Thursday, Friday and Saturday the convention of the National Association of Master Steam Heaters' and Fitters' will be held. Mr. Dibble will attend the latter also as a delegate. Some impor-tant subjects will be handled at both conventions. Mr. Dibble has devised the badge to be used at the plumbers' onvention. It is quite unique and taste ful. Upon a large long blue ribbon which is the background and terminates in elegant gold tassels, lies a cir-cular coat of arms or seal. This rests on a smaller white ribbon. Above is suspended a wooden nutmeg to repre ent one of the necessary utensils of the trade, and at the top in brass is an American eagle with outspread wings taking care of the flags.

POUND SOCIABLE

At Dwight Place Church Monday Evening. At the Dwight Place church on Monday evening, June 10, there is to be held a pound sociable, at which time Miss Mubel Sherman is to recite. Miss Maud Klock and the Misses Hofer are to render vocal selections, and a quartet and banjo club from Yalo will complete the program. The entertainment is given for the benefit of a charitable enter-prise, and the admission is to be a pound of anything that is useful
